Representation Description :

The area known as tal-Qares in Mosta, just off Triq id-Difiza Ċivili (close to MCAST and LIDL) has a number of archaeological features including megaliths inserted in the rubble walls, "vine trenches", the remains of a Roman structure, and pottery that shows that the site was in use since prehistory. One of the most intriguing features is an opening in the rock which still has an amount of uncovered topsoil and which may require further excavation than has already been done.

The site has received mention by George Grognet (best known as the architect of the Mosta Dome) and archaeologist E.B. Vella, as well as more recently by Dr Anton Bugeja.
